Across:

- We are still quite young and don't venture far away from the knothole. We can be rather loud and rambunctious. We are so excited with our big brother brings us food! (pg. 69-70)
- I am small but have a loud (and annoying) bark. I can see that scrawny little mouse and I would love to catch hold of him. He will not escape me! I can make my owner do exactly what I want him to do. (pg. 81-82)
- I run this Inn with efficiency. I am strict with my employees. I hate mice and will not tolerate having them in the Inn. (pg. 72)
- I do not want to stay in this old Inn. I am just sure that there are mice here. When my son is sick, I am beside myself with worry, but cannot get him help until morning. (pg. 12)
- My friend woke me from a deep sleep when she caught a creature in a glass. I am a third grade teacher from Wichita. I think my kids would love to have him for a class pet. However, we are on our way to Disneyland. (pg. 125)
- I made a grave mistake when I tried to carry that round white pill in my cheek. I lost my life and am no longer there to take care of my family. (pg. 22)
- I have a great idea for a Back-to-School activity. I will have my students write a composition about what they did over the summer. I would love to read about my student's experiences! It would give them an awesome chance to share their experiences with the class. (pg. 157)
- I was near sighted. I landed in a metal wastebasket and was emptied out with the trash. I was never seen again. (pg. 23, 29)

- I am an older mouse. I am concerned for my nephew's new past time. It is surely dangerous!

 Motorcycles are just foolhardy. However, I think we should listen to Ralph, he has been very helpful to us. (pg. 88)
- I am tired of driving! I am driving my family across the country for a Fourth of July vacation and I refuse to go any farther until after the holiday is over. (pg. 12)
- I am the bellboy. I help guests with their luggage and let them know what things that are available at the Inn. I am an older gentleman, but I know everything that goes on in the Inn! (pg. 12)
- I live inside the wall of the housekeeper's office. I am a mature mouse that had lots of experience. Everyone should just listen to me and follow my advice. (pg. 89)
- I saw the small creature first. I caught him in my drinking glass. I am a Kindergarten teacher from Wichita. I think my kids would love to have him for a class pet. However, we are on our way to Disneyland. (pg. 125)
- I am a curious little mouse. I love to watch the guests in room 215. I crave adventure and dream of being outside and on the ground floor of the Inn. I am often reckless and do things before I think about the consequences. I make friends easily and will do anything I can to help my friends and family. (pg. 19)

Down:

- I am a worrier. I am just sure that my family is going to be in danger. I have lost loved ones in the past. My son is so curious that I just know he is going to get into trouble. (pg. 21)
- I am a very special mouse. I live in the bridal suite of the Mountain View Inn in the lap of luxury. I am so worried that my young nephew will get us all in trouble and we will become homeless. (pg. 87)
- I am here to help. I volunteered to ask the milkman to bring an aspirin for that young boy. I also enjoy napping on the couch during my night shifts. (pg. 118, 137)
- I am a curious mouse. I like to investigate new things and love nice things. One time, I climbed into a suitcase, just so that I could check out the nylon stockings inside. Unfortunately, someone closed the suitcase while I was inside! My family never saw me again. (pg. 122)
- I am the maid. I don't enjoy my job. I love to sing while I work and stop and fix my hair in the mirror. I also like to sneak off and visit with the busboy. (pg. 39-40)
